In Memoriam

In memory of Abbitt Delaware Doss, who passed away 1 year ago, February 22, 1978.
We do not forget him
We love him to dearly,
For his memory is fade.
But this last year has been lonely
O what would we give to hear his voice
To see his smiling face.
We visit your grave and say a little prayer and hope
That some day we'll meet you up there.

Sadly missed by wife, children, and grandchildren

Participating couples in the Marriage Renewal Ceremony at Elon included Mr. and Mrs. Bobby McGimmy, Mr. and Mrs. Conard Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. William Hix, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Rosser, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dickerson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Covington, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Inge, Mr. and Mrs. John Hix, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Don Jimison, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cobb, and Dr. and Mrs. Bill Trimyer.

Marriage Renewal Service At Elon Baptist

Saturday night was the scene for a very special evening for fourteen couples of Elon Baptist Church in Pamplin. These striking couples came together to share in a candlelight ceremony of recommitment to one another.

A dressy affair it was! The ladies wore beautiful full-length gowns, while the men were smartly dressed out in striking suits and tuxes.

The ceremony itself was designed for couples who wished to renew their vows and commitments to one another. The ceremony, written by the pastor, Dr. Bill Trimyer, consisted of a covenant and prayers, which the couples read in unison. Each couple was given a personalized program, bound in an attractive folder.

At one point in the ceremony, the couples joined hands and turned to one another to renew their marriage covenant.

A candlelighting ceremony was a special part of the service. The pastor and his wife, Pat, lit a special candle, symbolizing the union of the participating couples, and the hope that their marriage would continue on in an unbroken pilgrimage.

Two couples were recipients of two beautiful floral arrangements. The flowers were given to the two couples married the most and least number of years respectively. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Morgan, married three years, received one of the arrangements. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Covington, married forty years, received the other arrangement.

The ceremony was "sealed" with a kiss, after which the couples joined hands and went to the social hall where a superbly prepared reception awaited them.

Mrs. Louise Rosser made a beautiful three tier wedding cake for the reception. Two young ladies within the congregation aided in the special evening by handing out programs and pinning corsages on the ladies. Other members aided by decorating the church and preparing the reception eats. Joe Vaughan from the Times-Virginian Printing Corporation was on hand to take individual pictures as a keepsake of the special occasion.

After the reception a number of the couples went out for a late dinner. The entire evening will be a memorable occasion for the couples who participated in renewing their vows and commitments to one another.

Mrs. Marion Tweedy, the only "real daughter" member of the Appomattox Chapter of the United Daughter of the Confederacy, is shown in above photo with a lap robe like the ones she has made for veterans.

UDC Members Visit Only Living "Real Daughter"

One afternoon recently, members from the Appomattox Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy had the pleasure of visiting in the home of its only living "real daughter" member, Mrs. Marion Tweedy. Her father was the late Robert R. Cardwell who was a private in Company 1, 2nd Regiment of the Virginia Infantry in the War Between the States.

Mrs. Tweedy, who will be 90 years old in August, maintains her own apartment in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Gladys Martin. The home is located near Indian Hill United Methodist Church, Route 3, Lynchburg.

Knowing that Mrs. Tweedy was hospitalized last year for some time and was ill from a heart attack, the visitors did not know exactly in what condition they would find her. To their amazement, they were greeted at the door by a very alert and active little lady, none other than Mrs. Tweedy herself.

After being there for awhile, Mrs. Tweedy's daughter suggested to her mother that she show her guests some of the activities that have kept her busy in her later years. It was really amazing to note the varied interests of Mrs. Tweedy.

She has refinished quite a number of pieces of old furniture, having done the repair work herself. Throughout the entire house there were many beautiful oil paintings done by Mrs. Tweedy. Some depicted still life, others were nature scenes, and one was a large painting of Mabry Mill which she had duplicated from a postcard picture. She had in her possession several quilts which she made in recent years. The patterns of which were very lovely and seemingly complicated, since becoming a UDC member she has made lap robes for hospitalized veterans, this being a project of the chapter.

There is no wonder at her alacrity after viewing the many interesting activities which she is still engaged in doing. She admitted that she loved to keep busy.

Just prior to her sickness, she wrote an essay on the subject "General Robert E. Lee After The War," and won first place honors. This was a statewide contest sponsored by the Virginia Division, UDC Commenting on this, Mrs. Tweedy said that she would not write any more essays as it involved a little bit too much for her at this time. She remarked that she was building the money which she received from winning the contest to purchase the book, "The Queen's Grace," by Jan Westcott. As yet she has not been able to locate a copy.

Before leaving the guests were served refreshments and were invited back for a meeting in her home. A tentative date was set and members are looking forward to meeting with Mrs. Tweedy, probably in May.

Everyone agreed the visit to see Mrs. Tweedy was most enjoyable and it was an afternoon well spent with the daughter of a Confederate veteran.
